

POPCORN & A MOVIE

Kaiser Center's 3rd Annual "Popcorn & A Movie" was held on October 31st in the Kaiser Building auditorium. The feature presentation was the 70's popular horror movie, Trilogy of Terror. Three raffle winners took home Halloween collectible tins filled with popcorn varieties from The Popcorn Factory.

BUILD A MENTOR PROGRAM

Kaiser Center held the first "BUILD A Mentor" booth in September. The City of Oakland sponsored program engages companies to mentor underprivileged Oakland youth. BUILD's entrepreneurship program was a huge success, with the sign-up of ten participating mentor companies operating in Kaiser Center. Very special thanks to all of our BUILD Mentor participants for making this event a success.

JEWELRY SHOWS

In September, Avila Jewelry presented a host of wonderful jewelry in an array of designs and styles. Fun with Jewelry held a two-day jewelry fair in October featuring a variety of sterling silver, gold and genuine gemstones.

BOOKS ARE FUN BOOK FAIR

Another successful Books are Fun book fair was held in October. The Reader's Digest Company held a two-day fair on the 2nd floor of the Kaiser Building offering up to 70% off top authors and titles.

KAISER CENTER GARAGE: GREAT GARAGE GIVEAWAYS

We have two new winners! Congratulations to our September winner, Cindy Blum of California Bank & Trust. Cindy won a complementary lunch for two at Central Park Restaurant. Graciela Selva with Bank of America, our November winner, took away dinner and a movie; two tickets for a movie at Emeryville's AMC Theater and a certificate for a dinner for two at Elephant Bar Restaurant.

KAISER CENTER—LOOKING DOWN ON CREATION

If you haven't already, take some time to check out the November 2006 issue of East Bay Monthly's "Architexture" section. The article by Lauri Puchall explains Kaiser Center, its architecture and place in history. Described as "an image of man-made magnificence", Oakland's Kaiser Building is featured as "a modern classic, corporate image and more, projected through architecture". Designed in the late 1950's, Oakland's Kaiser Building remains an example of mid-century, high-rise architecture at its most progressive. You can read the entire article and learn about the history and architecture of Kaiser Center by logging on to the Kaiser Center website at www.kaisercenter.com and clicking THE MONTHLY link on the home page.

2006 FIRE DRILL

CONGRATULATIONS to Donahue Gallagher Woods, LLP on the 19th floor for winning the 1st Annual Fire Drill Participation Prize, A catered continental breakfast was delivered for the entire suite to enjoy. Donahue demonstrated comprehensive knowledge of procedures for relocation and receiving occupants and performed exemplary execution of disabled person procedures as well as stair monitor and floor warden procedures. The floor wardens established an efficient plan which was executed beautifully with 100% employee participation and a total 3-minute relocation time. Please join Kaiser Center management in spreading kudos to the Suite 1900 Floor Wardens: Nancy Belgarde, Candi Garretson & Eric Roth, Monitors: Jennifer McWilliams, Catherine Gray, Christi Graber, Sara Bonnel, Kelly Lugo, John Coppinger, Suzi Garcia, Tricia Barber, Bryan Dimmick, Long Vo and Janey McFadden.

Understanding the importance of emergency response and preparedness can save lives. Floor Wardens and Monitors have a serious duty to lead by example; your co-workers will inevitably benefit from your leadership.
